Coastal Water Quality Dashboard

1. Health risk categories are calculated on five year rolling period, 365 day rolling period and six month (summer; October 2024 to March 2025) period. These are calculated using the Hazen percentile method. Any difference in category observed is due to different time periods of data being included in the calculation e.g. five years of data vs. 12 months of data.
2. Percentage exeedence over single sample threshold (>240cfu/100ml) is also indicated for the rolling five year period.
3. The five year rolling period is calculated from 2018 to Present day (PD) and excludes 2022 and 2023 where enterococci data was not consistently available (please see more information on page 5 of the 2023 KYC report).
4. More information on the suggested monitoring protocol and implementation protocol is available in the below footnote hyperlink

Grade	Estimated risk of illness per exposure*	Enterococci (cfu/100 mℓ)
Excellent	<2.9% gastrointestinal (GI) illness risk	< 100 (95 percentile)
Good	<5% GI illness risk	< 200 (95 percentile)
Sufficient	<8.5% GI illness risk	< 185 (90 percentile)
Poor	> 8.5% GI illness risk	> 185 (90 percentile)

* Please see chapter 6 of Vol 2: Guidelines for Recreational Use (2012)

NWQ Operational Management Legend	Action
Green	No action required, enterococci less than 240 cfu/100ml. Continue surveillance.
Amber	Result above 240 cfu/100ml. Determine cause or conduct follow up sample if required.
Red alert	Two consecutive samples greater than 380 cfu/100ml. Inform public via signage

Please see chapter 6.2 of Vol 2: Guidelines for Recreational Use (2012)

Legend
TFD	Too few data
	Awaiting data or not sampled as part of sampling schedule
