CALL FOR COLLABORATION TO ALLEVIATE ENERGY POVERTY

PARTNER WITH US!

Do you have an innovative technological,
financial and/or social solution to alleviate energy poverty in Cape Town?

Are you busy undertaking research on energy poverty or looking for energy-poverty projects to fund?

THE CITY OF
CAPE TOWN
WANTS TO HEAR FROM YOU!

The City of Cape Town is looking to form collaborative relationships with stakeholders to alleviate energy poverty, in a sustainable manner.

Interventions may include:

- ✓ research and stakeholder engagement;
- ✓ implementation of pilot projects; and
- ✓ funding opportunities to demonstrate energy efficiency, provision of safe and clean alternative energy services and technologies for low-income households in Cape Town.

The City's approach will be adaptive and progressive. Interventions will be guided by continually improving primary data concerning interventions guided by continually improved primary data concerning low-income household energy use, perceptions and practices.

This call for collaboration does not constitute a tender and does not bind the City to do business with any one or more respondents.
